

Here in America* Character Breakdown

Art (Arthur Miller) - Male, 40s, any ethnicity

A celebrated playwright known for his moral convictions and commitment to social justice. Intellectual and passionate, Miller is torn between loyalty to friends and his defiance of oppressive politics.

Gadg (Elia Kazan) - Male, 40s, any ethnicity

A brilliant and charismatic director known for his groundbreaking work on stage and screen. Conflicted and defensive, Kazan wrestles with guilt and justification over naming names before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Day (Molly Kazan) - Female, 40s, any ethnicity

Wife and intellectual partner to Elia Kazan. Witty, outspoken, and emotionally grounded, she serves as both a moral compass and a voice of pragmatism.

Miss Bauer (Marilyn Monroe) - Female, 30s, any ethnicity

Marilyn Monroe appears in the play as a symbolic figure representing love, loyalty, and societal expectations. She haunts the psyches of both Miller and Kazan.